Democratic Ticket.

FOR PRESIDENT,
GROVER CLEVELAND,
OF NEW YORK.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
ALLAN G. THURMAN, OF OHIO.
FOR SHERIFF,
J. W. BALES.
FOR CONSTABLE,
T. B. AYRES.
CLEVELAND AND THURMAN.

The Democrats in National Convention nominated Grover Cleveland, of New York, for President and Allan G. Thurman, of Ohio, for vice President. The Democratic politicians and newspapers all the country over say it is a strong ticket—the strongest ticket that could be put together. The foreign press regard it as a grand ticket. We present the platform elsewhere in this issue. It is a document worth reading and studying. The combination means four years more of Democratic rule.

WATSON AND THE PLATFORM.

Hon. Henry Waterson was serenaded on his return from the National Democratic Convention and responded at some length. Among other things he said: "Gentlemen, I went to the Convention with the single purpose to urge that the line of battle should be drawn on the message of the President and the position of our friends in Congress. I met there a formidable array in favor of limiting the plan of campaign to a simple re-affirmation of the platform of 1884, and a general indorsement of the Administration. There was, from first to last, no other issue raised. It is true that I helped make the platform of 1884. It is true that I spoke for it in the National Convention of that year. It is true that for four years I have put upon it a construction which I thought to be justified by the plain letter of its meaning. But it is also true that the country accepted it as a straddle, and that this interpretation had stereotyped itself upon the public mind. Merely to reiterate it, therefore, was to lose all that we have since gained; to traverse a policy which, in Congress at least, has brought us union where there were only divisions; to surrender an entrenched position and to fly the flag in the face of the enemy. I could not consent to this. But it is not true that I proposed any advice. On the contrary, I agreed to take the platform submitted by Mr. Scott and Mr. Gorman, word for word, if they would agree to strike out the first clause, which, without any qualification whatever, re-affirmed the Platform of 1884. There was no other difference between us—none at all; and, whilst they made their argument with extraordinary earnestness, plausibility and power, I am bound to say they disclosed no spirit that was not that of honest Democrats, seeking the good of the country and the party, and, when we finally reached the conclusion, embodied by the Platform as perfected, we stood as one man and not as three.

But, fellow-citizens, to rescue them from the perils that befel poor Tray, and the ascription so dangerous in their part of the country, as it would seem, of being caught in my company, let me hasten to suggest that there may be some mistake about my opinions and purposes. I have certainly done all I could do to fix the attention of the people upon the ruinous exactions of a tariff the most unscientifically laid in all the world. I have sought to force upon the authors of that tariff a redemption of the pledges they made when they enacted it; that it should not outlast the exigencies that called it into being. And it may be that, in the course of the agitation, I have not always been very squeamish about the terms used to describe what the Supreme Court of the United States itself has described as "illegal robbery." But nowhere have I proposed anything extreme, or destructive. I am a builder by preference, a conservative by nature, and no more than the President, no more than Mr. Carlisle, no more than my friends Gorman and Scott, would I proceed in the work of reform with any rash precipitation. I am the friend, not the enemy, of the manufacturers; of mining and industrial development; of labor in the sense of honest work for honest wages; and if the Democrats of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut would take what I think from my own lips, and not a second-hand from lips puckered to be for a consideration, they would hear nothing to frighten or to injure them.

I want to reduce the war taxes, and my objective point is a Revenue Tariff; but in the nature of the case we are bound to go slow. Rome was not built in a day. The Protective system can not be got rid of for years to come. The Mills Bill, which I support, is a Protection, not a Free Trade measure. As for free trade it is nowise at stake, and never will be realized, if it is ever realized, until the manufacturers put themselves at the head of the movement and push it through. The menace, like the chimera of the Rebel Brigadiers, is a figment of sectional and partisan malevolence got up by the Republicans for campaign purposes.

THE PLATFORM.

The Democratic party of the United States, in National Convention assembled, renews the pledge of its fidelity to Democratic faith and reaffirms the platform adopted by its representatives in the convention of 1884, and indorses the views expressed by President Cleveland in his last annual message to Congress as the correct interpretation of that platform on the question of tariff reduction; and also indorses the efforts of our Democratic representatives in Congress to secure a reduction of excessive taxation.

Chief among its principles of party faith are the maintenance of an independent nation of free and independent States, now about to enter upon its second century of unexampled progress and renown; devotion to a plan of government strictly specifying every granted power and expressly reserving to the States or people the entire ungranted reserve of power; the encouragement of a jealous, popular vigilance, directed to all who have been chosen for brief terms to enact and execute the laws, and who are charged with the duty of preserving peace, insuring equality and establishing justice.

The Democratic party welcomes an exacting scrutiny of the administration of the executive power which four years ago was committed to its trust in the election of Grover Cleveland President of the United States, and it challenges the searching inquiry concerning its fidelity and devotion to the pledges which then invited the suffrages of the people.

During the most critical period of our financial affairs, resulting from over-inflation, the anomalous condition of our currency, and a public debt unexampled, it has, by the adoption of a wise and conservative course, not only averted a disaster, but greatly promoted the prosperity of the people.

It has reversed the improvident and unwise policy of the public domain, and has reclaimed from corporations and syndicates, alien and domestic, and restored to the people, nearly 100,000,000 acres of land, to be sacredly held as homesteads for our citizens.

While carefully guarding the interests of the taxpayer and conforming strictly to the principles of justice and equity, it has paid out more for pensions and bounties to the soldiers and sailors of the Republic, than was ever paid before during an equal period.

It has adopted and persistently pursued a policy of peace and harmony, preserving peace with all nations, while scrupulously maintaining all the rights and protecting the interests of our own Government at home and abroad.

The exclusion from our shores of Chinese laborers has been effectually secured under the provisions of a treaty, the operation of which has been postponed by the action of a Republican majority in the Senate.

Honest reform in the civil service has been inaugurated and maintained by President Cleveland, and he has brought the public service to the highest standard of efficiency, not only by rule and precept, but by the example of his own untiring and unselfish administration of public affairs.

In every branch of the department of the Government under Democratic control, the rights and the welfare of all the people have been guarded and defended; every public interest has been protected, and the equality of all citizens before the law without regard to color has been steadily maintained.

Upon its record thus exhibited, and upon the pledge of a continuance to the people of the benefits of it, the national Democracy invokes a renewal of popular trust by the re-election of President Cleveland, who has been faithful, able and prudent. They invoke, in addition to that trust, the transfer also to the Democracy of the entire legislative power.

The Republican party, controlling the Senate, and residing in both houses of Congress a reform of unjust and unequal tax laws, which have outlasted the necessities of war, and which are now undermining the abundance of a long peace, deny to the people equality before the law, and that fairness and justice which are the basis of all good government.

The American labor for a better share in the rewards of industry is stifled with false pretenses, enterprise is fettered, and bound down to home markets; capital is discouraged with doubt, and unequal and unjust laws that neither be properly amended nor repealed.

The Democratic party will continue with all the power conferred to it, the struggle to reform these laws, in accordance with the pledges of its last platform, indorsed at the ballot-box by the suffrages of the people. Of all the industries of our land, the immense majority, including every tiller of the soil, gain no advantage from the excessive tax laws, though the price of nearly everything they buy is increased by the favoritism of an unequal system of taxation.

All unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation. It is repugnant to the creed of Democracy that by such taxation the cost of the necessities of life should be unjustly increased to all our people. Judged by Democratic principles the interests of the people are betrayed when, by unnecessary taxation, trusts and combinations are permitted to exist which, while unduly enriching the few that combine, rob the body of citizens, by depriving them of the benefits of natural competition.

Every Democratic rule of government action is violated when, through unnecessary taxation, a vast sum of money, far beyond the needs of an economical administration is drawn from the people's pockets and accumulated as a demoralizing surplus in the National Treasury. The money now lying idle in the Federal Treasury, resulting from superfluous taxation, amounts to more than $125,000,000, and the surplus collected is reaching the sum of more than $60,000,000 annually.

and enterprises should, and need not be, endangered by the protection and correction of the burden of taxation. On the contrary a fair and careful revision of our tax laws, with due allowance for the difference between the wages of American and foreign labor, must promote and encourage every branch of such industries and enterprises, by giving them assurance of an extended market, and study and continuous operations, in the interests of American labor, which should in no event be elected. The revision of our tax laws contemplated by the Democratic party should promote the advantage of such labor, by cheapening the cost of the necessities of life in the home of every workman, and at the same time securing to him steady and remunerative employment.

Upon this question of tariff reform we closely consider every phase of our national life, and on every question involved in the problem of government the Democratic party submits its principles and professions to the intelligent suffrages of American people.

Chief among its principles of party faith are the maintenance of an independent nation of free and independent States, now about to enter upon its second century of unexampled progress and renown; devotion to a plan of government strictly specifying every granted power and expressly reserving to the States or people the entire ungranted reserve of power; the encouragement of a jealous, popular vigilance, directed to all who have been chosen for brief terms to enact and execute the laws, and who are charged with the duty of preserving peace, insuring equality and establishing justice.

Debanded by the immense temptation the remedy of the Republican party is to meet and exhaust by extravagant appropriations and expense, whether constitutional or not, the accumulation of public expenses by abolishing unnecessary taxation.

UNION CITY.

A croquet epidemic has struck the place. The principal advantage seems to be that the players eat only twice a day—not stopping for dinner.

The Baptist church expects its new organ by the 16th. Miss Nettie Pond, of Kirksville, is expected to lead.

PERKINS.

Born, June 2nd, to the wife of Jao. B. Heathman, a daughter.

The farmers who are going to raise tobacco in this vicinity have got some of their crop transplanted, but the cut-worms have been ruinous.

Quilt a large crowd at Bethel Christian Church the fourth Sunday. Rev. Cunningham officiating. James Sanders preaches at the same place the second Sunday. Rev. Cunningham will preach there the fourth Sunday night preceding Rev. N. J. Ince preached at Sylome Methodist Church the second Sunday and at Forest Hill on Saturday night before. County Evangelist, O. W. Young, preached at Antioch the first Sunday in June to a large congregation.

HARRIS AND THE GOVERNORSHIP.

[Mayville Democrat.]
Ex-Senator John D. Harris received a large number of votes in the Democratic State Convention at Lexington and he was chosen as one of the delegates-at-large from the State. This would seem to be a clear indication that he is receiving indorsement that means something. That it means he is to be Kentucky's next Governor no one is so well conversant with the truth about the matter to make so comparatively forcible a statement. His vote did not come alone from his immediate neighborhood. It can not be old friendship counties were simply giving him a compliment and would be for some one else for Governor. It is well enough to look up this bit of statistics in making our direction for opposition. Ex-Senator Harris has made a good Representative in the higher State Legislature, but are the people simply seeking this means to show their appreciation of his record? His record is a good one. He has asked for nothing as yet because of the earliest of the event which will celebrate his nomination. Madison county played a very prominent part in the proceedings and was not found wanting when the motions and the work was needed.

If there could be such a thing it might be considered proper to turn the nomination already of Mr. Harris for Governor.

NEWS PARAGRAPHS.

Bulwer Hall, aged 29, fell from a tree in Harrison county, Sunday, while "skinning a cat," and broke his neck.

The large factory of the Wallingford, Conn., Wheel Company was struck by lightning Tuesday, blowing down and totally destroyed by fire. Loss, $50,000.

James S. Greenwald, arrived here Wednesday night from Jefferson City, Mo., where he had been serving a term in the State prison, having been convicted of complicity in robbing the mail in Bates county, Mo., and on Tuesday the Governor pardoned him.

—Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat.

Fred Hack, a trusty convict at the Penitentiary, was bitten by a mad dog Tuesday. Gen. Hewitt's mad dog was applied and operated excellently. It was applied until it refused to adhere. This is the eighth or ninth person who has been bitten in the Frankfort neighborhood lately. Twenty or thirty dogs have been killed suffering from hydrophobia.

Mrs. Mullins, of Pittsburg, was a witness against Mr. Scholler in a case which was to have been tried yesterday afternoon, and yesterday morning Mr. Scholler, in order to insure Mrs. Mullins' absence from court, walked into her house, and, seizing her by the hair, cut her throat from ear to ear.

Mrs. Mullins being dead and Mr. Scholler being left, the case was not tried yesterday afternoon.—Courier-Journal.

James Brooks returned last week from the Mountains of Eastern Kentucky, where he spent three weeks surveying the lands of the Magowan heirs, in which his wife has one-fourth interest. These lands are situated in Menefee and Breathitt counties, and embrace 8,000 acres. Coal, iron and silver in good quantities are in them, and at no distant day they will be exceedingly valuable. The surveying just completed was for the purpose of ascertaining definitely the number of acres in the tract, the timber upon which has been sold to Michigan buyers for $5 per acre.—Midway Clipper.

The Georgetown Times says of the Confederate monument recently erected there: "It is a handsome piece of workmanship; was built by a Louisville firm, is of dark gray Vermont granite, and quadrangular in shape. Its height is 19 feet; shaft 11 feet. On the front is the Confederate cross, with drooping banner and broken staff. Emblems of war lie under the folds of the banner. On each side of the monument are inscribed the names of the 'boys in gray' who sleep in a circle at its base. At the bottom of the inscription is read the words:—'1861—Confederate Soldiers—1865.' The monument weighs 13,000 pounds. It cost $825.

A dying Catholic in New York having expressed a desire to be cremated, the fact was made known to Monsignor Thomas S. Preche, who replied: "The idea of cremation is abhorrent to the practice and teachings of the Roman Catholic church. The custom is an attack upon the doctrine of the resurrection. The church holds fast to the sacredness of the body and teaches that the self same body which is buried shall rise again. Of such the church has always taught, and in view of the talk about cremation, and the prevalence of this mode of disposing of the dead in certain quarters, the sacred congregation deemed it wise to issue a decree positively condemning the practice, and prohibiting it under any circumstances."

The decree was issued within the last two years, I think. The Abbe Gamme, a Frenchman, wrote a book a little while ago, making an argument against cremation, and I had the honor of writing a preface for the English translation. If a dying Catholic should express a wish that his body be cremated, he would be informed of the prohibition of the church, of course. If he died persisting in his wish, and his relatives declared that they would carry that wish into effect, the funeral would not be attended with the rites of the church in any way. No public masses could be said for the soul of the deceased."

Mr. John W. Hanbury has in 240 acres of tobacco. He is said to be the largest tobacco grower in the world. Besides this he is growing 500 acres of wheat.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

VIEWING THE PROMISED LAND.

Squatters on the Grand Opening of the Opening of an Indian Reservation.

GREAT FALLS, MONT. News of the opening of the Black Feet Reservation is awaited impatiently here and throughout Northern Montana. A large number of persons have gone to the reservation to locate ranches, mines, and town sites. The desirable valleys are fairly covered with tents, the greatest camp apparently being to the south of the famous hay grounds. Soldiers as well as civilians are on the grounds, and when news comes that the bill is signed there is likely to be a rush. Bullhook Valley, beyond Fort Assiniboine, is all stacked off, and the tents of the squatter may be seen all along the valley of the Milk River. There is a silver lode in the Bear Paw Mountains that was located several years ago. It is understood that several parties are on hand watching to locate this mine as well as to prospect for others.—Chicago Tribune.

[ED.—The President has now signed the bill throwing open for settlement the Indian Reservation in Montana.]
